

DEVELOPMENT PERMIT AREA 9
FARM HOME PLATE

A Guide to the Farm Home Plate Regulations in Chilliwack
 September 2017

INTRODUCTION AND PURPOSE:

Development Permit Area 9 – Farm Home Plate is comprised of all valley floor farmland within the City of Chilliwack. DPA 9 was established to provide flexibility to the Farm Home Plate area and siting requirements to accommodate better farm operations and unique site characteristics while using as little farm land area as possible. For more information on DPA 9 Guidelines and Map of applicable lands, please refer to the Implementation Guide and DPA Maps sections of the 2040 Official Community Plan (OCP), online at www.chilliwack.com/ocp.

FARM HOME PLATE is a portion of the property where all residential and related buildings, structures and activities are clustered, leaving the balance of the property for agricultural use. The goal is to minimize the impact of residences and related buildings and activities on agricultural land and to retain agricultural land for agricultural uses in the long term.

Please see the following page for Zoning Bylaw Area & Siting Requirements for Farm Home Plates with infographic and examples of residential and related structures or activities.

REVIEW PROCESS:

If the proposal meets Farm Home Plate requirements as outlined within the Zoning Bylaw, the application proceeds directly to Building Permit review. If the proposal requires variations in siting to better support farm operations or accommodate unique site characteristics then the application must meet the criteria set out within DPA 9 Guidelines of the OCP. If such guidelines are not met, the application proceeds to Council for approval as demonstrated below:
